

Words of Support for Dr. Stout's Work

He is "...one of the most frequently cited psychologists in the scientific literature."

- Hartwick College

"(We) appreciate Dr. Chris Stout's outstanding service to the Nation as a member of the Baldrige National Quality Program Evaluation Team for Healthcare."

- (the late) Ronald H. Brown, United States Secretary of Commerce

"We are indeed grateful to you...(for) having been in the forefront of advocacy throughout the years, and to have helped to create and shape psychology."

- Richard M. Suinn, PhD, APA President 1998-9, and Jack Wiggins, PhD, APA President 1992-3

"Chris is a true model for not only his young peers to emulate, but for all of us to admire."

- Stephen Pfeiffer, PhD, Executive Director, AAP

"Systems expert Dr. Chris Stout has performed his magic again. His insightfully crafted methods provide a clean and easy road map...(along with his)...seasoned advice for those that want rapid solutions that work."

- Douglas H. Rubin, PhD

"(Chris)is results-oriented, has a positive mind, is generous and true. This guy is a star."

- Dominique-Henri Freiche, Paris

"There is optimism and vulnerability that filter through Chris' world view and suffuse his work. His energy is respectful of others and hopeful for the world and we are all better for it."

- Leigh W. Jerome, PhD - Hawaii

"From Forrest Gump (with a brain) to entrepreneur and global missionary. Nice! God Bless you and your work."

- Drew Edwards

"More action, and less rhetoric, to improve the health and well-being of people is a fruitful approach to global peace. Chris should be commended for his systematically working toward his goals."

- Dan Leviton, PhD, U. of Maryland

"When I first met Chris, it was at the TED Conference in Monterey. We had a brief discussion which has impacted my life ever since. One phrase, "Do Important Things" changed how I look at who I am, what I do in life, and how it effects others. From minor activities to large projects, I now view them in a different context. This adds depth and new textures to my actions which were previously unavailable to how I lived in the real world."

- Ted Stout (not related), ROI

"Impressive and inspiring. Very fast with hard core heart and guts galore. This is a man who is truly paying it forward and providing human-kind the resources for generative change across the globe."

- Bill Denne, LCSW

"Chris Stout is a remarkable man. He has the intellect of Bernard Baruch, the fearlessness of Evel Knievel and the affability of Bill Clinton."

- Ralph Musicant, JD

"Strong in the face of adversity, thoughtful, kind, conscientious, compassionate, intelligent and inspiring! What a world it would be if only we could say that Chris Stout's story is a norm."

- Debbie Carvalko, Praeger Press

"It is inspirational to see someone accomplish as much as Chris has, and then keep right on going."

- Leslie Piotrowski, Lake County Health Department

"Dr. Stout a wonderful example of how creativity, discipline, fierce intelligence, and genuine caring can together move the world in extraordinary new directions."

- D. R. Baerger, JD

"Dr. Stout's experiences have brought to him a level of understanding I can only hope to aspire to one day."

- Andrew Garman, PsyD, MA

"Chris' story has brought tears to my eyes - tears of admiration, inspiration, and encouragement. It is not easy for any of us to take the initiative, to move outside of comfortable boundaries, to want to change the world and to do something active, risky and meaningful to make a difference. Chris seems well on his way to making his life a true contribution to the lives of others."

- Fields Wicker-Miurin, London

"I met Chris on a 1997 Flying Doctors mission to Vietnam. He is one of the most genuine and impressive people I've met. He walks the talk. A gem."

- Nancy Beahm Koritz

"I have known Chris for almost 20 years and I am still consistently amazed by his energy, sincerity, intellect and humility. He is an unparalleled dreamer and doer. There have been many times when I was inspired by his worldview and felt privileged simply to be in his company. There are not many people who can say that they left the world a better place than they found it, but Chris is certainly one of them."

- Cam Helkowski, Loyola University

"Dr. Stout's vision is compassionate, creative and sizzling with energy. A truly inspirational leader!"

- Giovanni Caracci, MD

"I have known Chris over two years for his contributions to the World Economic Forum. He has offered great input and insight to the Forum on many health related issues. He has a passion for solving "huge human problems" and he sees health as one of the primary ones. I am sure that in the future his talent and leadership will bring him to find even bigger answers for bigger problems."
